

Macro and Markets Dashboard: United States

Updated: August 11, 2017

Second quarter U.S. economic growth picked up, driven almost entirely by increased consumption. The labor market is gradually nearing full employment. Inflation is well below the Fed's two percent target in both the core CPI and the full index, with little expected acceleration. Elevated stock prices, with near long-term low equity market volatility, suggest an extraordinary level of optimism. The otherwise overvalued dollar has weakened recently against major trading partners.
